Evansville College

Evansville, Indiana

The Evansville College seal was designed with a special meaning to all Evansville College students.

Within a circle, the margin of which carries the name of the college and city, is found the doorway of E.C. Within the doorway is a seven-branch candlestick, holding seven lighted candles. The symbolism of the candles from left to right is as follows:

"Chremata," Greek for "goods," signifying the interest of E.C. in economics development and welfare. Next is the candle "Anopausis," symbolizing "recreation," which has a real place in the life and work of the student. The third candle from the left is "Sophia," signifying "intellectual development" in the students life. The central and superior candle in the middle is "Theosebia," meaning "spiritual aspiration," signifying the E.C. students life of vital and practical religiousness. The next candle is "Philokalia," meaning "love of beauty." It signifies the cultural and inspirational qualities E.C. has to offer. Second to the last candle is "Koinonia," meaning "social fellowship," signifying the Evansville College community as a cross-section of the larger community. The last candle is "Hugieia," meaning "health" and signifying the interest of the college in physical well being.

Just beneath the candle will be found the faintly traced outline of the bow bend of the Ohio river, indicating the situation of the city of Evansville.

Dean McKown

Dedication

For more than a quarter of a century Dr. Edgar M. McKown has served as a member of the faculty of his Alma Mater. Since 1941 he has been Dean of the College. In this capacity he has been directly responsible for much of the curricular growth of the school.

A leading churchman, Dr. McKown has practiced Christianity as both a teacher and an administrator. The students to whom he has been a friend, the faculty whom he has led, and the alumni whose lives he has influenced, join in expressions of sincere affection and appreciation.

To Dean Edgar M. McKown — teacher, administrator, Christian minister, and author — this 1962 LinC is gratefully dedicated.

To The

There is one mythology which is most deeply rooted in our world today: the mythology of the Greeks. It existed as a religion five hundred years before the birth of Christ. But from it and from the life which produced it have come a great part of our language, our ideas of beauty, and some of the most beautiful and poetic stories ever dreamed or imagined. Hardly a day passes that you do not hear or see something which remains to us from that ancient, beautiful time. This is why we, the editors chose "To The Greeks" to be our theme.

How often have you seen the figure of the winged god, Mercury, or Hermes, as the Greeks called him, with wings on his feet and on his hat, carrying a staff, which is topped with wings and surrounded by entwined serpents? This was the god as the Greeks pictured him, swifter than thought, the messenger of the gods. To this day he is used as the insignia for many messenger services because his name stands as a symbol of speed and movement.

Greeks . . .

Just as the name Aphrodite stands for love and beauty, we associate strength with Hercules and wisdom with Athena. If one would take a look around, he could see the things which represent the ancient Greeks.

The Greeks believed that the gods lived upon a mountain of great height and beauty — Mount Olympus. There they dwelt together in a community of light and pleasantness; a society with its own laws and hierarchy. This custom of the gods is represented right on the Evansville College campus, where we form our own little community with its laws and governing authority.

Throughout this book there are brief descriptions of these ancient Greek gods. They are no longer powerful in the minds of men, they are only names. Let us not worship them, but let us be aware of that which they represent.

Ca

HEBE . . . GODDESS OF ETERNAL YOUTH

Hebe, daughter of Zeus and Hera, is known as the "goddess of eternal youth." In the Greek mythology this goddess typified eternal youth and joyousness. She was a comely maiden, with sparkling eyes and rounded form, ever smiling.

Hebe is symbolic of the campus life at Evansville College. As Hebe freed men from their bonds and chains of tribulation, our campus life helps free the students from the strains of studies and exams.

The rites to Hebe were celebrated with unrestrained merriment to keep the other gods free from their troubles. This ties directly with our social life at Evansville College, where we have dances, parties, and the friendship of our fellow students to get more enjoyment out of our college career.

Don Larson, freshman, was called before "Kangaroo Court." His punishment — carry a sign around the campus concerning the price of coffee in the "Indian."

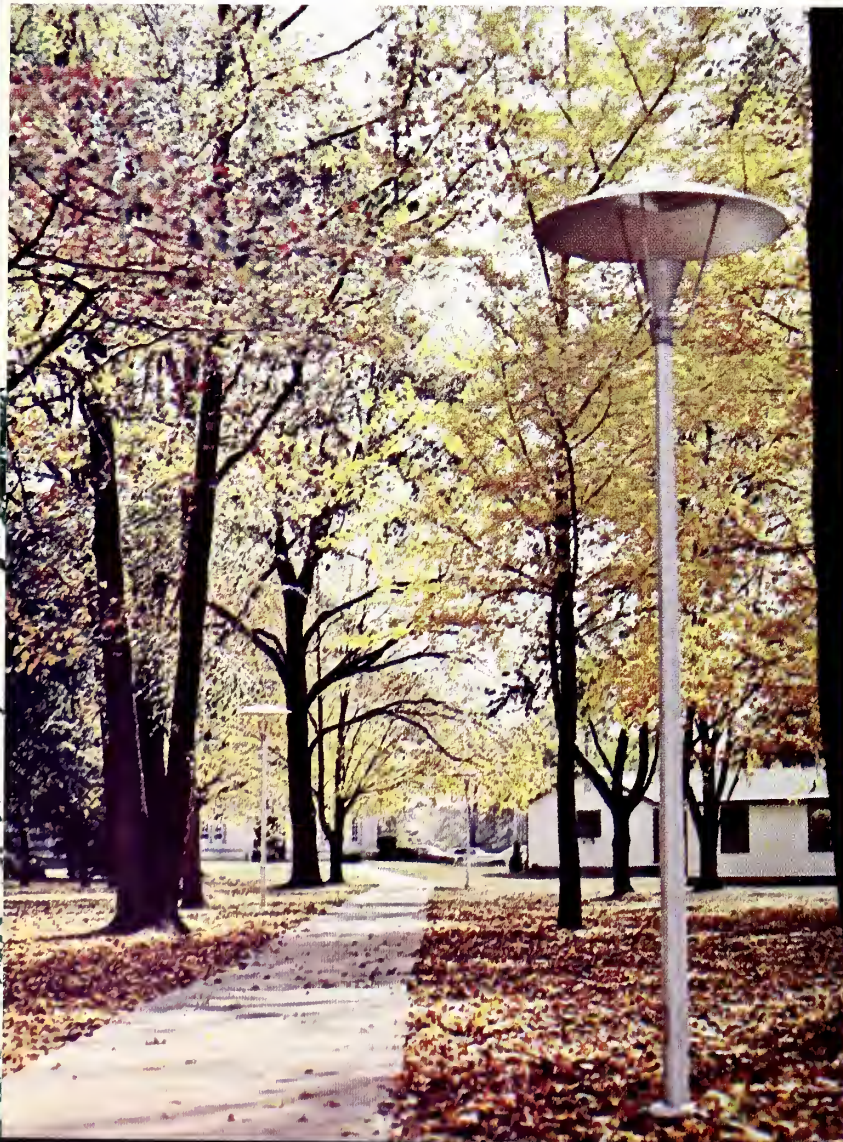

A rainy day does not dampen the spirit of Evansville College students.

One rarely stops to notice the beauty that enhances our campus. Evansville College has one of the most picturesque surroundings in this part of the mid-west.

We think these scenes will show you what we mean.

Homecoming 1961

The Chi O's captured first place in lawn displays with their stork and the nameline "We're expecting a victory."

The Lambda Chi's took first place in the men's division with their display of a purple Ace launching a Leatherneak.

The biggest event at Evansville College each year is Homecoming. The festivities this year began with a bonfire in East Side Park, and then was moved over to the Union for the Queen election and pep dance. A tricycle race was also held Friday night, with Sigma Phi Epsilon pedaling to victory.

Saturday morning a series of Inter-Campus events were held on the front lawn. There was a tricycle race for women won by Alpha Omicron Pi, and a pledge balloon throwing contest, with the balloons filled with water. The annual tug-of-war between the women was won by Moore Hall.

The preparation for Homecoming takes a lot of work for most of the people at E.C. Lawn displays were put up by fifteen various organizations, from Weinbach to Kentucky. Lambda Chi Alpha and Chi Omega came in first with their displays, while Kappa Pi, honorary art fraternity, and Alpha Omicron Pi came in a close second.

This was the high event of the day.

Other activities that were held Saturday morning were the stilt race won by the men's dorm, a sack race won by the sophomores, the tire race won by Hughes Hall and the women's drinking contest.

After these contests were over, there was a motorcade from the campus to Bosse Field.

The Homecoming jinx was not broken that afternoon and the Purple Aces went down to defeat by the score of 26-0, administered by the Leathernecks of Western Illinois.

Halftime ceremonies gave E.C. their 1961 Homecoming Queen, lovely Ann Burton of Alpha Omicron Pi.

The Jerry Lewis Orchestra provided the music for the annual Homecoming dance Saturday night in the Armory. This years theme was "I image rose."

HESTIA — GODDESS OF HEARTH

Hestia kept an eternal fire burning so there would always be a meeting place for the gods. This Greek god was represented in ancient Greece by an eternal burning flame, not by her statue. At Evansville College she is represented by our McCurdy Memorial Union Building.

As the name "union" implies, the building is a meeting place at all times for college students. It is a building dedicated as a meeting place for our student leaders and as a meeting place for social and recreational groups.

Some students enter in the Fall . . .

students and guests use the Union Building daily. The Union offers dining, recreational, and meeting facilities in pleasant, well cared for surroundings.

The dining facilities are used by students as well as many persons in the community.

Queens

APHRODITE — GODDESS OF LOVE AND BEAUTY

Of all the goddesses of ancient mythology none was more widely venerated than Aphrodite, the goddess of love and beauty. She was the daughter of Zeus and was the most beautiful of all the Greek goddesses. In Greece she had the powers over natural as well as human beauty and she could grant or take away a woman's beauty.

The queens and sweethearts, that are elected to reign over certain festivities, represent the beauty at Evansville College as Aphrodite represented beauty in ancient Greece. These girls were elected mainly because of their beauty, but also because of their interest in the arts and surely because of their wisdom.

THE "MUSES"

GODDESSES OF SONG AND FINE ARTS

Originally, the Muses were unnamed goddesses who lived on Mt. Olympus, the home of the gods. They entertained the other Greek gods and goddesses, each representing a specific part of the fine arts.

One of the Muses' represents voice, as does the Evansville College choir. Another goddess, carrying a flute, represents our instrumental music. There was a Muse for comedy and poetry which represents the speech and drama departments. The rest of the Muses represented a certain type of song or drama.

The Fine Arts Department at Evansville College is closely related to the teachings of the arts by the Muses.

Mr. Zuss and Nickles decide to put on their own interpretation of the story of Job.

The play, "J.B." occurs in the interior of a traveling circus. Two unemployed actors, one old, the other young — Mr. Zuss and Nickles — had been reduced to selling balloons and popcorn in the circus playing the Old Testament story of the suffering Job.

Dissatisfied with the interpretation of the story, they make up their minds late one evening to play it themselves as they think it should be played. Mr. Zuss casts himself as God. Nickles is cast as Satan.

The story, however, comes to life and takes on the action itself with a present day American interpretation.

ARES — GOD OF WAR

Ares was worshipped as the leader of all wars and all of the Greek warriors prayed to him before going into battle. It was believed in ancient Greece that the spear and shield, which Ares carried with him, had fallen from heaven and therefore was very powerful. The Greek men were trained as they thought Ares was trained, so they would be able to win every encounter.

E. C. doesn't have a Greek god to train its men, but they have a much more powerful group in the Air Force R.O.T.C. This unit of the Air Force trains our students to be leaders in the defense of our country. Just as Ares led the Greeks to war and peace, so will the men of the United States follow officers trained by the R.O.T.C. to defend our country's peace.

Greeks

ZEUS and HERA — OVER ALL GREEKS

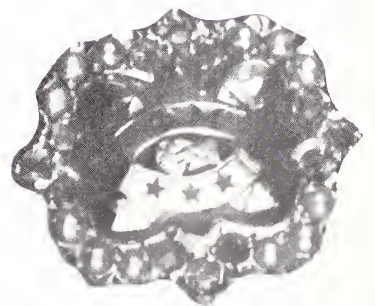

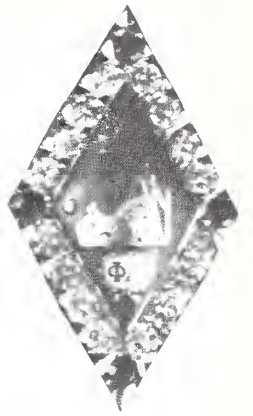

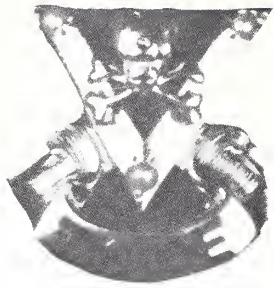

Zeus, the king of all Greek gods, and Hera, the queen of heaven, were the leaders of the Greeks and are represented at Evansville College by the fraternities and sororities which take the lead in campus activities.

Fraternity life makes leaders of followers, and men of boys. The marriage of Zeus and Hera represents the lifelong bond acquired and shared in Fraternity Life.

*"Zeus spake, and nodded with his shadowy brows;
Waved on the immortal head th' ambrosial
locks,
And all Olympus trembled at his nod."*

Alpha Omicron Pi

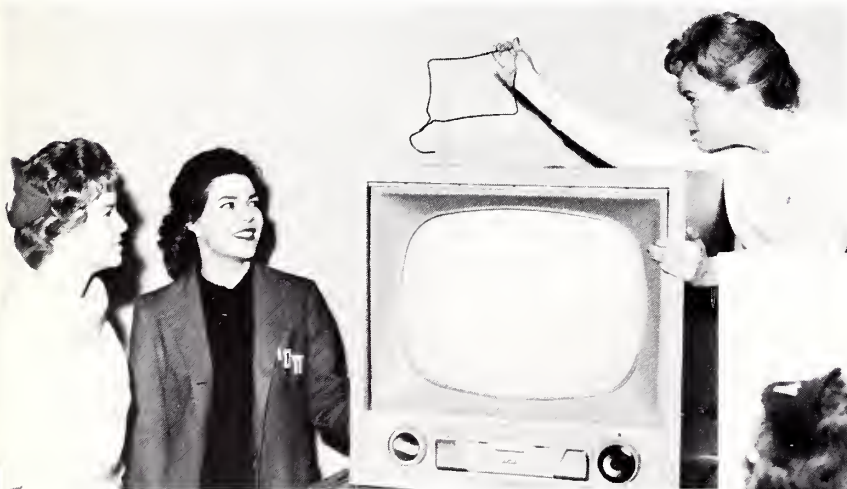

Another successful year began for the AOPi's when they pledged 14 girls after formal rush. Very capable of leading the chapter through a good year were Nancy Riecken, president; Judy Graul, vice-president; Nancy Beyer, corresponding secretary; Sandy Droll, recording secretary, and Carolyn Lauer, treasurer. Other important girls to the chapter were Carolyn Wilson, rush chairman and social chairman; Kathy Compton, panhellenic representative; Cara Lee Habegger, standards chairman; Nita Sims, song leader and scholarship chairman; Jeane McKenzie, philanthropic chairman, and Ann Hillenbrand, historian.

Homecoming was a happy time for the AOP's for their Ann Burton was crowned queen and a second place trophy was won for the lawn display. Carol Meyer and Nita Sims were in charge of building the display. The pledges also won first place in the tricycle race.

Conducting the business for the pledges were Judy Taylor, president; Barbara Brown, vice-president and panhellenic representative; Peggy Langhorst, secretary, and Barbara Goerges, treasurer. AOPi's holding offices in school organizations are Judi Kavanaugh, S.G.A. Athletic Chairman, and advertising manager for the Crescent and LinC; Kathy Compton, treasurer of Panhellenic and vice-president of Angel Flight; Judy Graul, Women's Council secretary, and Caroline Wilson, S.G.A. delegate.

Beta Sigma Omicron

After a busy rush season, the chapter gained 11 new girls. Elected to lead the pledge class were Carol Applegate, president; Pam Goldsmith, vice-president; Alice Chance, secretary, and Bonnie Friar, treasurer. Other important positions held by the pledges were Nancy Morris, Junior Panhellenic representative; Cecil Townsend, editor, and Gloria Robinson, house manager. When open rush started, Betas again pledged three girls.

Betas are proud of their five girls who were named to Who's Who. They are Martha Lockwood, Jody Kimm, Ninalea Savage, Karen Thomas, Judy Mominee.

Many Betas participated in school functions and held offices. Among these are Carol Umbach, vice-president of M.S.M.; Joanne Stanley, president of Sigma Alpha Iota Pledge Class; Nancy Morris, president of Junior Panhellenic; Cindy Hall, treasurer of Angel Flight; Janie Barnes, corresponding secretary of Newman Club, and Martha Lockwood, chairman of Union Social Committee. Judy Williams was named Miss Student Nurse of Welborn Baptist Hospital.

Holding social functions was part of an exciting year for the Betas. In the Spring, a family night was held for parents, actives, and pledges. The Mother's Club had the traditional party and dessert for seniors. The last day of school, the Betas spent sunbathing and picnicing for the final event with the graduates.

Chi Omega

The Chi Epsilon Chapter of Chi Omega began their year by electing Suzy Schaad president, Judy Johnson, vice-president, Joy Saddler, secretary, and Anna O'Reilly treasurer, Dixie Corn Lant personnel, and Nora Fisher pledge trainer.

Mary Ann Conaway was named Crescent Girl, and Georganne Knittle Hemmer was elected May Queen.

Last spring the chapter placed first in Musical Madness with Nora Fisher winning best director. Sara Van Scyoc conducted the group to win first in the women's division of Vocal Varieties.

Holding offices in campus organizations are Annette Tapley, president of Panhellenic, Nora Fisher, secretary of Student Government Association, and four members of the Union Board.

Scholastically the chapter received the Scholarship Trophy at State Day.

Starting the fall with a bang, the Chi O's pledge 19 girls with Mary Ann Conaway receiving credit for being rush chairman. The pledge class sponsors are: First Sponsor Elizabeth Weiss, Second Sponsor Barb Thompson, and Third Sponsor Susie Gaul.

At Homecoming time, the Chi O's won first prize in the women's division of the displays. Sally Hadley was chairman of the display.

Named to Who's Who are Suzie Schaad, Judy F. Johnson, Nora Fisher, and Mary Ann Conaway.

Getting punished by pledge trainer Nora Fisher for stealing the trophies are pledges Tammy Young, Barbara Thompson, Linda Branaman, and Carolyn Gaul.

Phi Mu

With new officers in reign, Phi Mu looked forward to rush and prospective rushees. Leading the group were Mary Ann Stahlberg, president; Carol Day, vice-president; Gail Savage, treasurer; Mary Ellen Rauch, secretary, and Annabelle Grabhorn, pledge trainer. In charge of rush was Susie Geier. She and the other actives gladly welcomed 12 new faces on pledge day. A slumber party was held for the pledges in the Sig Ep house.

Elected to head the pledge group were Judy Innis, president; Judy Price, vice-president; Barbara Slaughter, secretary, and Barbara Andrews, treasurer. This group was proud of the three new pledges taken in open rush. They were Kathy Rosborough, Carol Daniel, and Carolyn Boyd.

Homecoming brought on many exciting activities and hard work, with Sharon Crawford being in charge of the display and also the candidate for queen. A few weeks later, Phi Mu's gladly claimed Susie Geier for Miss United Fund.

Christmas holidays meant the annual house cleaning party and tree trimming party with the Sig Eps. Phi Mu presented a silver dish to the men to show their appreciation of the successful affiliation with Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha had a very productive and successful school year under the leadership of David Koehler, president; Delbert Pace, vice-president; Steve Sanford, secretary, and Ron Tepool, treasurer. Other top officers were Mike Sims, pledge trainer; Bob Blemker, rush chairman; Joe Rohleder, ritualist; Greg Server, social chairman, and Charles Hern-don, faculty advisor.

The Chi's started the year off by having an all-campus watermelon bust. Linda Campbell was chosen the watermelon bust queen. Contest, dancing, and entertainment were the main activities for this event.

Fall rush was again successful giving the fraternity 17 new men. During the homecoming weekend, the Lambda Chis won the men's division of the lawn displays competition. Phi Zetas, Lambda Chi alumni, were present for the Phi Zeta alumni breakfast.

The winter and spring formal, Sadie Hawkins Dance, and open house parties were highlights of this years social activities. The Crescent girl for the 1961-1962 school year was Mary Ann Conaway. Honored at the spring formal were Jim Sanders for outstanding senior, Ken School for outstanding pledge, and Clifford Kraft for outstanding alumnus.

Numerous awards were given to the men of Lambda Chi. Pledge Gary Edward was elected freshman president and Delbert Pace junior vice-president. Ron Tepool was named to Who's Who and also received most valuable player on Ace's football team, the Kiwanis Award winner, and all I.C.C. conference end. John Meredith was named outstanding lineman of the I.C.C. and David Koehler received the Central Turner's scholarship based on scholarship and athletic achievement. Joe Rohleder won the Mr. United Fund contest.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The 1961-62 school year has been another outstanding one for the men at Indiana Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The Sig Alphs, who celebrated their fourth anniversary on the E.C. campus on Dec. 7, has leaders in nearly all phases of campus life.

Heading the list of campus leaders was senior Tom Tuley, who is a past president of the fraternity, was president of the senior class, and vice-president of the Student Government Association. During class elections in the fall, Gary Seiler was elected vice-president of the sophomore class and Paul Utley won the office of president of the junior class.

The chapter — 61-members strong — also had other leaders and big events to keep it in the limelight of campus affairs. Bob Engelbrecht was the top cadet in AFROTC during the fall quarter, serving as commanding officer. Later in the year, both Tuley and Engelbrecht were named to Who's Who.

Larry Pond co-ordinated college intramural athletic activities, heading the Student Government Athletic Committee and serving on the Student Senate. Fraternity president Bill Toy also held the job of president of Inter-Fraternity Council during the first half of the school year.

In athletics, the chapter also had some outstanding competitors. Danny Phillips, an end of the Aces football squad, led the Indiana Collegiate Conference in punting for the second year in a row. Jim Horstketter and Ron Magness also saw considerable action in football. Marty Herthel, Paul Utley, Lynn Mautz were round ball players. The SAE's were making a strong big for the All-Sports Trophy when the LinC went to press. They took first place in football and cross-country, and were doing fine in basketball.

In March the chapter presents its SAE-Philo Blackouts with Don Hess as the coordinator.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon completed its 7th successful year as the first National social fraternity on this campus.

Leading the chapter was Charlie Hayse, president; Larry Hockstetler, vice-president; Gene Bricker, secretary; Jim Rogers, comptroller; and Max Hockstetler, historian.

Winning trophies was part of the big year. Sig Ep's placed first in Vocal Varieties, second in Musical Madness, and first in the tricycle race Homecoming.

Many Sig Eps contribute to other campus organizations. Ron Brown served as president of Student Government Association; Ron TenBarge, homecoming chairman; Jerry Hockstetl, chairman finance committee and member union Board; Chester Mayflower, chairman of welfare committee and national treasurer of Kappa Chi; Bill Balsbaugh, president of choir, and Jim Lewis, treasurer of Phi Mu Alpha.

Elected to class officers were Carl Schroder, senior vice-president, and Dick Inglebrand, sophomore president. Gene Niednagle was editor of the Crescent and served as president of Cantibury Association. Gene Bricker was a Crescent staff member and on the R.O.T.C. group staff. Norman Long held the office of president in A.A.R.

Sig Eps are active in the community as well as on campus. This year, they will again help with the annual Heart Fund Drive.

The fraternity house had the addition of new closets and new curtains, provided by the Mother and Wives Club. The interior was brightened up with a new paint job.

Alan Savage, social chairman, saw to it that the brothers had plenty of social functions. There were several combo parties, theme parties, such as the Dog Patch Drag, and the Stone Age Stomp, and the annual spring formal.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Leading the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity through another year were Brian Presley, president; Donn Hayes, vice-president; Ron Ruminer, secretary; Roger Goodson, treasurer; Ken Flittner, historian, and Mark Campbell, pledge trainer.

This year an extensive house remodeling program was put into operation. The house has been repainted both inside and out. The furniture has been replaced and new carpeting put in the living room. The fall pledge tiled the upstairs and downstairs halls of the house. Meals are now being served for those members living in the house.

In charge of Vocal Varieties and Musical Madness for the TKE's was Charles Jones. Pledge Bob Swartz won the "Ugly Man" contest held at the United Fund carnival and dance.

Mark Campbell was the lucky person to be in charge of the homecoming display in front of the house this year.

The Red Carnation Ball was held at the Evansville Country Club once again. The TKE's were fortunate in having the national executive secretary speak at the annual Founder's Day Banquet which was held at the West Haven Gun Club.

Organizations

THEMIS

GODDESS OF ETERNAL LAW AND ORDER

Themis was the servant or companion of Zeus and her chief responsibility was to summon the assemblies of both gods and men. She assisted Zeus with advice and she helped organize all the work and recreation for the Greek gods.

Just as Themis organized the work and recreation on Mount Olympus, the organizations on the Evansville College campus are responsible for the most of the activities throughout the school year. Just as Themis provided the eternal law and order of the Greek gods, the Evansville College Student Government is responsible for the law and order of its students.

These organizations provide a sense of leadership to the students and help the students with their advice as Themis helped Zeus.

HECATE — GODDESS OF DIVINE POWER

Hecate had the power of bestowing or withholding her blessing of learning. She rules over the other gods and goddesses in their wisdom, and they could obtain their knowledge only if she wanted to grant them the power of wisdom.

At Evansville College, Hecate is represented by the faculty. They grant the opportunity of gaining wisdom, it must be our decision to accept it.

The faculty members lead us, just as Hecate led the Greek gods. Without the faculties' guidance, we would surely not have gained the wisdom we did at Evansville College.

President Melvin W. Hyde

From the founding of Moore's Hill to the present Evansville College, this educational institution has been expanding and improving steadily. We who are in attendance here in 1961-62 are privileged to witness the expansion of facilities and growth toward university status. The completion of the Fine Arts Building and the Physical Education Building will represent an increase in stature, among comparable colleges, that reflects much credit on those who have led Evansville College during the years directly preceding this addition. Foremost among these leaders is Melvin W. Hyde, who has been President of Evansville College since 1956. The building program now nearing completion should be a source of great satisfaction to him as an objectification of his hopes for Evansville College.

Business Manager, Ralph Olmsted, and his staff are among the hardest-working members of those who see to the complicated business of getting students registered and ready for a new quarter. Students irritated with having to pay a parking fine often forget that without the careful handling of records by the people in the Business Office their college careers would be much less smooth.

Repainting the interior of the Office Building kept Maintenance men busy.

Wear and tear from student traffic is kept to a minimum by plenty of work.

Replacement of worn out furnishings is as important as care of existing facilities.

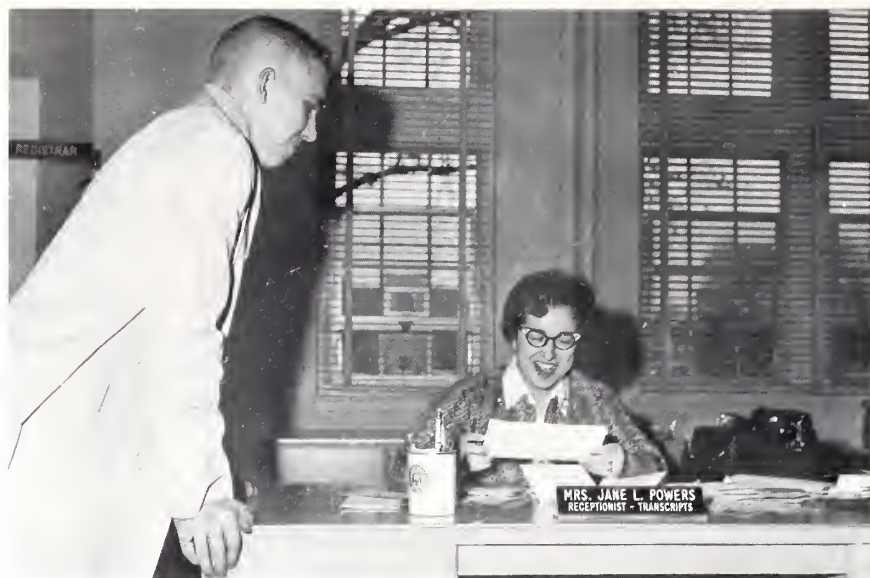

Dorm students haven't so wide a choice, but they avoid the cash register tangle.

Another reluctant customer digs up 10¢ for a cup of coffee.

Ring up another Student Plate!

But surely they aren't all offered only at ten!

Without help from the secretaries in the Registrar's office, we'd still be filling out class cards in July.

Whether you want paperback books or paper clips, the book store will be glad to supply what you need.

Seniors

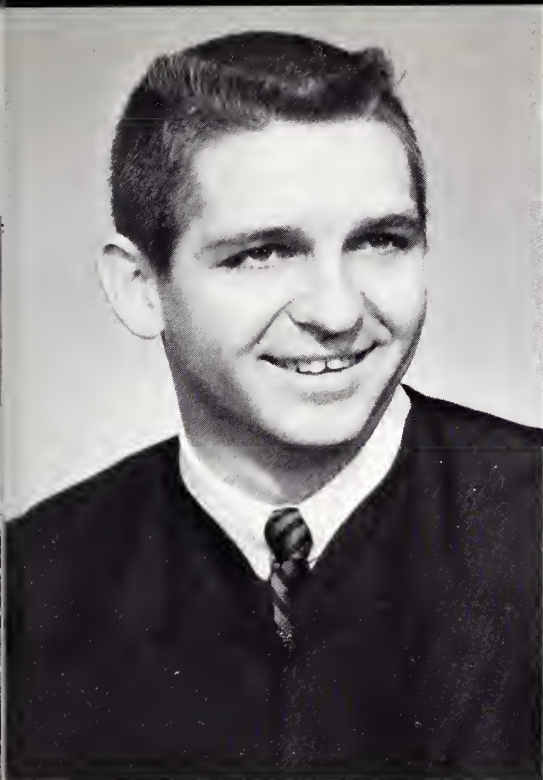

The daughter of Zeus and Metis, Athene was the goodess of wisdom. She was of a more masculine than feminine structure; she had thoughtful eyes, compressed lips and a firm chin.

She had the power and influence of a great warrior, but she won her victories by her wisdom. Athene, like the students at Evansville College, attained her knowledge and skill from trying to learn more than the average person.

Athene is represented by the graduating seniors, who surely must have attained their wisdom by careful, deep thought and study.

LinC Honorary

APOLLO — GOD OF LIGHT

Apollo was the god of light and of youth and manly beauty. He occupied the highest place, next to Zeus, among the Greek gods. No god was handled with more respect by the poets and myth-makers than he and his communication with these men was through the prophets. Apollo was also a great Olympian and had great wisdom of all things as he was the lawgiver of the Greek states.

The students chosen and honored in this section of the LinC are represented by Apollo because of their leadership ability at Evansville College. Whether it was in an organization, fraternity, or Student Government, these students were always willing to help while also keeping up their grades.

On the following six pages are men and women of this year's senior class who have displayed their leadership throughout their four years at Evansville College. These students were selected by the staff of the 1962 LinC and are but a few of the many outstanding senior students on the E.C. campus this year.

Dave Koehler

Bob Engelbrecht

Outstanding in many fields, Bob has been selected to Who's Who. As a member of the AFROTC he was chosen as the Cadet Colonel of ROTC last fall. Bob is the past treasurer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is currently serving as the president of the SAE's.

Versatile is the word that describes Dave as he has taken part in numerous activities on campus. He has been president of the History Club, an IFC representative, and a member of the SGA Social Rules Committee. Dave was president of Lambda Chi Alpha and has served on the LinC staff.

Gene Niednagel

As the Editor-in-chief of the Crescent Gene spends most of his time in the Journalism office. A selection of Who's Who he has also served Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Delta Epsilon, the Canterbury Club, and the President's Roundtable.

Sharon Tapley

An industrious individual, would be the phrase to describe Sharon. As a member of Phi Mu she has been their president and secretary. Her advice has been valuable on the President's Roundtable, Student Senate, and the Union Dance Committee. A member of Pi Delta Epsilon, she has been active on both the LinC and the Crescent.

Judy Werneke Harmison

Judy has served as secretary of the Union Board and chairman of the SGA Social Committee. Because of her many achievements and honors she has been elected to Who's Who. Judy is past president of Alpha Omicron Pi social sorority.

Karen Thomas

Karen's energetic personality has made her a popular choice of the LinC Honorary. She has represented Beta Sigma Omicron as their Rush Chairman, Panhellenic representative, and Musical Madness director. Her charm has won her honors as she has been a Queen candidate for both Homecoming and the Military Ball.

Phil Price

Speak of the AFROTC on this campus this year and you speak of Phil Price. Phil has been Deputy Commander of the ROTC group and was Commander of the Pre-Summer training unit. Phil is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and has been director of Musical Madness for the last two years.

Annabelle Grabhorn

Cheerleader Captain, Angle Flight Commander, and Who's Who are a few of the responsibilities that Annabelle has held down. As a dedicated individual she has supported the Phi Mu's as their Chaplain, Historian, Musical Madness director, and Pledge Trainer.

Jodi Kimm

Jodi, president of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority, is involved in activities too numerous to mention. Jodi, who is a secondary education major, has made the Dean's List 11 consecutive times as the LinC went to press. She has also served on the Woman's Council and was a candidate for basketball queen this year.

Barbara is noted for her friendly, bubbling personality and her many activities. She has served as secretary to Chi Omega sorority, as treasurer of Angel Flight, as co-editor of the Crescent, as vice-president of Pi Delta Epsilon journalism fraternity, and she was a member of the SGA publications committee.

Barbara Nunn McGregor

Larry Duncan

Larry's talented toe carried the Aces to several football victories. He was on the varsity football team for three years and made the all-ICC second team. His talents are unlimited as he is a member of the varsity baseball team and a selection of Who's Who.

Tom Tuley

Leadership and personality are traits that make Tom outstanding on the EC campus. Tom has served his classmates as Freshman, Junior, and Senior class presidents along with being SGA vice-president. Tom, a selection to Who's Who, has also served as president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Greg Server

Known around campus for his work with Lambda Chi Alpha, Greg is a person with many individual talents. As a speech major he has the reputation as an excellent speaker on the Debate team.

Martha Lockwood

Versatile and dependable, Martha has achieved membership in the LinC Honorary by her ability to do any job well. She has served Beta Sigma Omicron faithfully as well as serving on many committees.

As an education major, Susie has taken an active part on many committees. She has received recognition by being selected to Who's Who. Susie has also served as president of the Chi Omegas.

Susan Schaad

Holding down the office of SGA president, Ron has shown his ability as an excellent leader. Ron is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has also been named to Who's Who.

Ron Brown

Donna Hagedorn

With desire and determination Donna has represented INCA. She has been SGA vice-president as well as being on the Student Senate, President's Roundtable, and the Administrative Board.

Sports

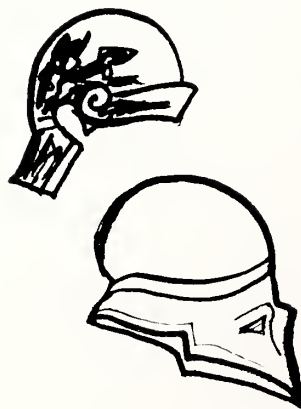

HERCULES

GREEK HERO OF SPORTS

Hercules was the inspiration to all athletes in the time of the Greeks. His leadership and achievements in sports made him a legend and a Greek god.

At Evansville College, Hercules is represented by the Athletic Department which helps make men of boys by giving them the opportunity to compete with teams of high caliber and with each other, and gives them the opportunity of sharing their knowledge of sports.

Hercules achieved his fame through fair play, strength, and stamina, and our athletes use the same methods in becoming better players and teammates.

Aces Drop Last Four in 4-5 Season

Evansville College's gridiron forces posted a mediocore 4—5 record for the 1961 football season. A downhill slide at the end of the season, which saw coach Paul Beck's troops lose their last four games was the main factor in a disappointing season. With returning lettermen John Meredith, Ron Tepool, Dan Phillips and place-kicking specialist Larry Duncan in the Aces line, the purple and white figured to be exceptionally tough on defense. But three times in the last four games, Aces' opponents went over the 25 point total.

After an opening 26—0 win over Hanover, the Aces were upset by a lowly Wabash team 12—7. Evansville then bounced back with close wins over DePauw, St. Joe and Indiana State by a total of five points. But then came the downhill journey as Valpo put together 22 points in the opening nine minutes to bury the Aces 29—12 and Western Illinois spoiled the Aces' Homecoming with a 26—0 rout of the home forces. Stopped five times inside the 20 yard line, the Aces then dropped a 6—3 decision to Ball State at Muncie. To wind up the season the Aces took their customary beating from powerful Butler 30—7 as the upstate Bulldogs scored 16 points in the closing five minutes to win by an impressive margin.

Although it was not a winning season, the Aces did manage to land several berths on the all I.C.C. team. Guard John Meredith and end Ron Tepool were selected for the first team, Larry Duncan was voted second string end, while center Jack Webber received honorable mention.

Madriaga Heads Top Freshman Squad

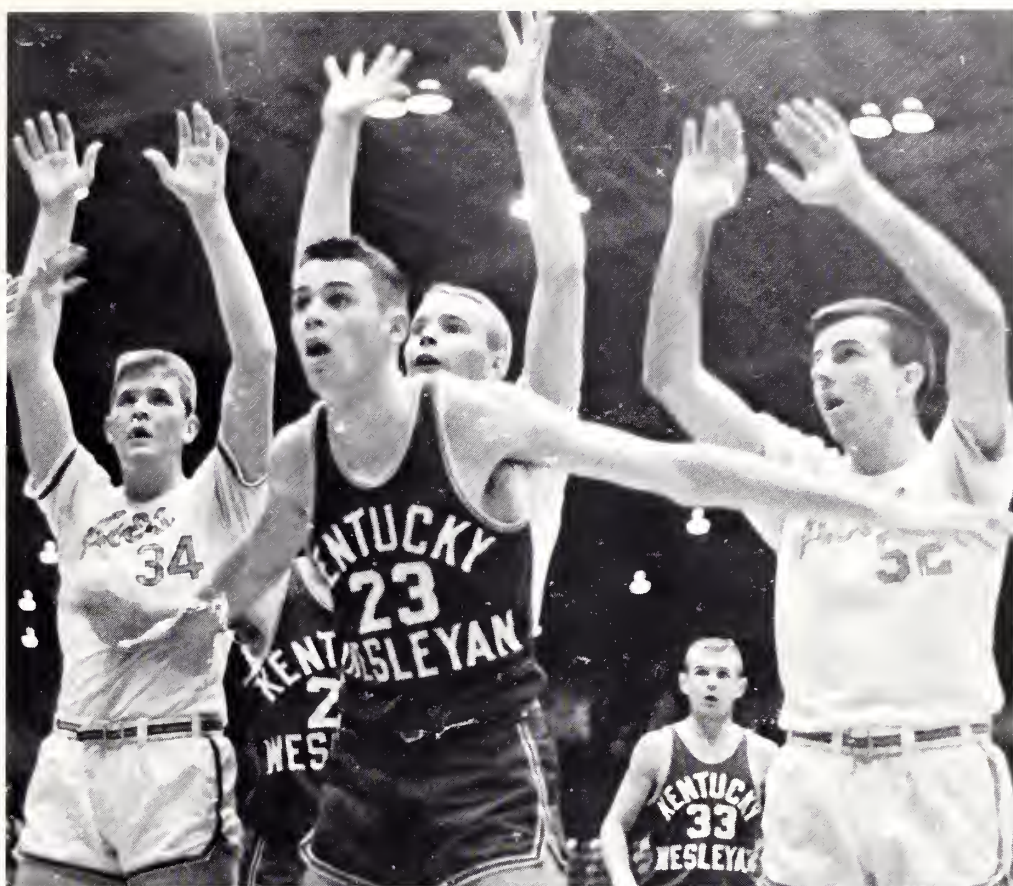

Coach Don Ping's freshman Aces had one of the best seasons ever completed by an Evansville College freshman squad. M and M seemed to be the thing this year with Mantle and Maris so coach Ping came up with his own M. and M., in the person of Mike Madriaga. Playing a three game schedule, the frosh Aces scored a 46—7 victory over Wabash and tied Indiana State 13—13. The freshmen then traveled to Carbondale, Illinois to upset powerful Southern 10—8. Madriaga, an Evansville North all-state athlete led the Aces over SIU as he scored all ten points on a touchdown, a field goal, and an extra point.

2—6 Record

Evansville's freshman Aces finished the season with a modest 2—6 record with their lone wins over Oakland City and Southern Illinois. Their losses came in pairs to Wesleyan and Indiana State and a lone loss to SIU.

The big highlight of the season was the win over a tough SIU team that beat the Aces one time.

Green, Alan McCutchan, and Lynn Mautz. BACK ROW, Ed Rolen, Ed Zausch, Bob Hermeyer, John Neidig, Buster Briley, and Coach Arad McCutchan.

A young Evansville College team, with only two regulars returning from last year's squad, finished the season with a respectable 14—11 record against some of the toughest teams in the country. The Aces opened with five straight wins including the first win ever over a Bib Ten team, as the Aces downed Iowa 65—59. Coach Arad McCutchan's Purple Gang then hit a rough spot and dropped six of their next seven games before pulling out of the tailspin with five more straight wins. Sophomore sensation Buster Briley was the bright spot for the Aces as the Madison bomber used several 40 plus games to finish with a 20 point average and make the All-NCAA Regional team. Briley bettered Ed Smallwood's field goal total for a single game as he dropped in 19 against L.A. State and 19 again against North Carolina A & T in the NCAA tourney.

Marty Herthel was again the big rebounder for the Aces as the seasoned junior was as steady as Harry Gallitan's defense at SIU. Junior letterman Marv Pruett carried the second highest average at 15.5 and was over the 20 mark several times. Pruett's driving improved 100 per cent over last year's effort and his shooting was it's usual tremendous self. Sophomore Paul (Bull) Bullard was just that as he led the Aces with his rebounding power early in the season. An ankle injury cut down on his effectiveness quite a bit but he'll be around two more years.

Sophomores Wayne Boultinghouse, Lynn Mautz, and Jim Smith all played at the other guard position while big Ed Zausch jumped center for the Aces and had a tremendous game at St. Joe. Walt Henry shot like gangbusters in almost every game he played.

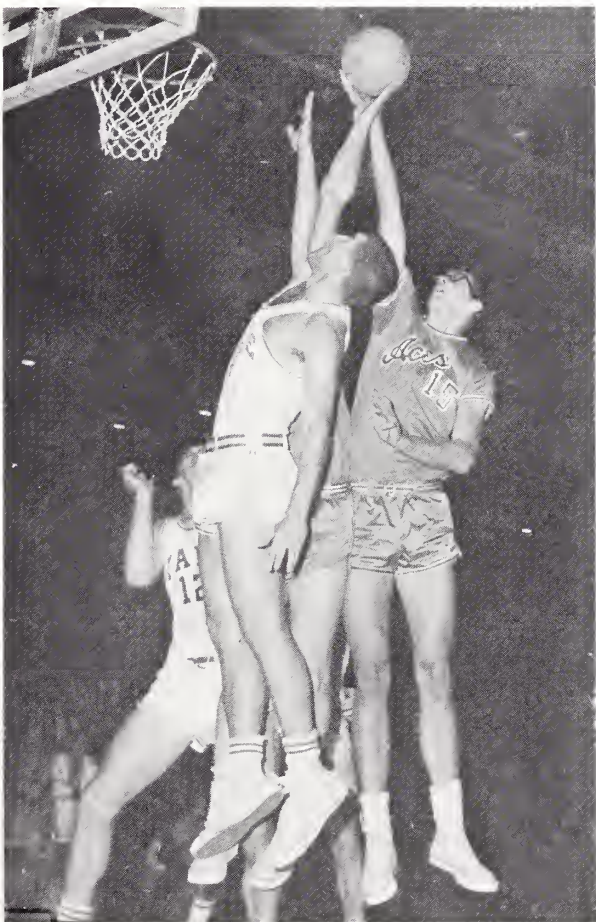

There's not a senior on the squad and the Aces have a Fox up their sleeve for next year. (A Jerry Sloan type Fox.)

My Sincere Thanks . . .

To Mr. John H. Boyd, who sacrificed much of his time to assist the LinC staff and myself. The '62 LinC could not have been complete without him.

To Mr. Bob Sakel, American Yearbook Representative, for his valuable time, constant attention and advice.

To Mr. Covert of Covert Studio's, for taking the Greek pictures.

To Beverly Studio's, for taking all the senior pictures and queen pictures.

To Mr. Rowland, for assisting me with the dedication.

To Mr. Ralph Olmstead, who not only saw that these yearbooks were paid for, but also helped me with the copy for the E.C. seal.

To President Hyde and the administration for their interest and patience.

To Don Follett, who assisted me with some pictures when I ran short.

To Doug Baskett and Steve Loewenkamp, who helped me with the sections and theme, but who's names were left out.

To Mrs. Emma Schrieber, for the use of her cap and gown.

To all the staff, the best group of workers I know.

To the advertisers for their generous ads.

Best Wishes . . .

To the Senior Class and all the LinC readers. I hope you experience as much pleasure from the '62 LinC as I have had in preparing it for you.

LEARN TO SERVE

Learning doesn't end with graduation from college. You have spent 16 years to qualify yourself for a big opportunity. Now you must Learn to Serve.

Your future service to your employer, your community and your fellow man will determine the value of these years you have invested in an education.

"BRINGING BETTER SERVICE TO MORE PEOPLE"

. . . is the objective set for the Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Company by its 8,498 owners and their 762 employees.

By establishing a similar goal in your career, you can help make your education pay bigger dividends.

A CAREER OPPORTUNITY with Interstate Finance Corporation is the topic uppermost in the minds of Business Majors Byron Moellenkamp and Bob Bragassa, Class of '62, as they discuss the possibilities with Interstate Finance President Leland M. Feigel, Class of '29, and a trustee of Evansville College. Interstate's Management Training Program offers an excellent career opportunity in Consumer Financing to the young man with an eye to the future.

INTERSTATE FINANCE provides a sound consumer financing service for the families of mid-America through its nearly 150 offices in thirteen states. Founded in 1920 in Evansville, its expansion has created career opportunities for nearly 800 present employees.
